

Year 6 Literacy Homework

Due in Friday 30th November 2018

Another unit of work, another paragraph from Mr Harper which is positively LITTERED with mistakes!

Below is a paragraph from an evacuee diary with no less than 15 mistakes made (spelling, punctuation or grammar). Please work out where they are, correct them, and then re-write the paragraph into your homework books. Make sure you aren't adding your own mistakes by not copying down things correctly!

Thanks for your help!

Mr Harper 😊

As we stepped into the Evanses' house, i was overcome by how clean it was. not just nice and clean; ruthlessly clean, the kind of clean that intimidates you and almost dares you to make a mess. How will Nick and I keep it tidy. They dont even have a maid like Millie back in london! After a quick look around, it was time for supper, wich was hardly a relaxed affair with auntie Lou anxiously scurrying around us. As soon as any morsel of food hit the floor she was there with her brush and pan, sweeping it back up. I think she was relived when we finished, and hurried us upstairs to bed. We werent allowed to step on the carpet as it was new, and Auntie Lou told us that Mr Evans thinks using the stairs twice a day is quite enough for anyone. Apparently, there are an outdoor toilet that we can use. Nick wasn't too happy about this – I think hes afraid there will be spiders!
